MANCHESTER AND VICINITY.

Manchester, its Prospects and its Future.—There is no city in the United States at this time, of its population and resources, either apparent or expected, that has so small a public debt to cripple its corporate energies as has Manchester, Va., a town that was founded in 1782, boasted of a weekly paper and which, founded on the property of Colonel William Byrd (who started Richmond at the "Falls of the James," to be located on like property), was then supposed to be a rival of the now prosperous and happy capital of the Old Dominion. True, the bright promises of early youth have not been fulfilled in her case, nevertheless she is no inconsiderable atom in the matter of finite corporation being, as this will attest. Witness this: Her debt about all total is \$70,000. Taxed value of real estate, \$2,500,000; other property not now taxed, \$1,000,000. With a rate of taxation of 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, the surplus income of the city, after paying all interest, which only amounts to \$2,500, and city governmental expenses, will in a few years leave the city free from all debt. If this is not a bright outlook for the denizens of Manchester, it is difficult to conceive what would be so considered. It only remains to be added that the recent appreciation of real estate in Manchester is more suspicious than in any part of Virginia.

Matrimonial.—Notice has already been given of the marriage on October 27th of Mr. John T. Young, of Richmond, and Miss Capitola Jordan, of Manchester. This was followed yesterday, in the list of progressive events, by the nuptials of Hilary E. DuVal, Esq., the worthy, esteemed, and capable clerk of the Hustings Court of this city, and Miss Mattie E. Gary, daughter of Pal. Gary, Esq., an old and esteemed citizen, with hosts of friends, whose daughter, the bride, is both loved and respected for many womanly traits of superior excellence. The happy couple, after being united in the indissoluble bonds at 3 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Woodward, and receiving the congratulations of scores of friends, departed later in the day North on a wedding tour via Richmond and Washington. They were accompanied by the congratulations and good wishes of hundreds of friends, who wished them a happy time and safe return.

Sudden Death.—William Dean (colored), who had been under treatment for several days for supposed varicosis, escaped from his nurse's care during Sunday night while in a delirious state, and was found Monday in a ditch on the city limits nearly frozen dead. He was secured after some considerable trouble, and carried back to his quarters. Yesterday he died of the disease with which he was supposed to be afflicted and the exposure he was subjected to when he escaped from his nurse.

Political Speaking.—Captain George D. Wise and Peter C. Warwick, Esq., the latter Democratic-Conservative candidate for the House of Delegates for the district composed of this city and Powhatan and Chesterfield counties, will address their fellow-citizens of this city on the issues of the present political contest at the courthouse on Saturday night.

Briefs.—The Manchester canal did not lack any water yesterday to drive all the machinery of the riverside mills, yet the stream of the river itself was meager in outline, deficient in volume, and the rocks and islands usually hid by the water were painfully conspicuous.

M. A. Coghill qualified a few days since as deputy clerk of the Hustings Court of this city, and will have charge of the office during his present term.

Pickles Smith arose to a question of privilege. He said that a hint had reached him to the effect that his presence in the club was a drawback, and he would therefore withdraw his resolution.

"Brother Dan, sit down," replied the President. "Instead of drawing dis credit backards, you have majestically aided to draw it ahead. Don't be too sensitive. I know of men so sensitive that a sudden collision with a policeman will make their pulse run up to 100. You have been prompt in your tendency, dignified in your deportment, an' he never bin known to walk off wid de wrong hat."

Judge Bambo Smith, chairman of the Committee on Investigations of Complaints, reported that his committee had investigated the complaint of Brother Abram Davis against Brother Aaron Jones, both of Milwaukee, and were ready to report. Brother Davis charged Brother Jones with trading him a spanked mule, knowing at the same time that he was a member of the Lime-Kill Club in good standing.

Investigation had shown that in trade he had worked off a lead dollar and a set of brass jewelry on Brother Jones, and the committee were forced to the conclusion that it was about an even thing.—Detroit Free Press.

FUNNY.—It sounds funny to read that several city aldermen were drunk at the dedication of the city water-works. Some tend in human shape must have poured a barrel of whisky in the reservoir.—Norfolk Transcript.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND
IS A
POSITIVE CURE
FOR ALL THOSE PAINFUL COMPLAINTS
AND WEAKNESSES SO COMMON
TO OUR BEST FEMAL POPULATION.

I will care entirely the worst form of Female Complaints, all ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements, and the consequent Spinal Weakness, and is particularly adapted to the Change of Life.

It will dissolve and expel tumors from the uterus in an early stage of development. The tendency to cancerous humors there is checked very speedily by its use.

It removes faintness, fatigued, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Neuralgia, Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression, and Indigestion.

That feeling of bearing down, causing pain-weight, and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times and under all circumstances act in harmony with the laws that govern the female system. For the cure of Kidney Complaints, we are of the opinion that the kindliest of feelings for England exist among Americans. We warn these gentlemen that these pleasant relations are likely to be imperilled if England sends us over any more soft-sofa-stud young men with single-barreled eyeglasses in their peculiar, and the ponderous and dreary Saturday Review will persist in talking of the "State of Chicago." Puck.

Professor Goldwin Smith and Member of Parliament John Mowbray, of England, are of the opinion that the kindliest of feelings for England exist among Americans. We warn these gentlemen that these pleasant relations are likely to be imperilled if England sends us over any more soft-sofa-stud young men with single-barreled eyeglasses in their peculiar, and the ponderous and dreary Saturday Review will persist in talking of the "State of Chicago."
